Leather

Natura leather is a full grain, aniline dyed, wax based leather, protected with a layer of film finished with a strong cracking effect. It has a smooth & slight gloss surface, complete with a rich hand-feel. Using premium quality hides, the hides are aniline dyed and give a light protected finish without altering the grain. This helps to maintain colour consistency. Therefore natural features such as different grain patterns are more obvious. Different surface characteristics are also created through finishing processes such as embossing and spray effects.
